

Inhalte der Kurzfilme

This year's School of Life short films deal in various ways with the experience of death, loss and teenage violence.

Wish

Dir: Matt Day, 07:48mins, UK, 2007

Two boys, two girls, a game where nobody wins.

New Boy

Dir: Steph Green, 10:52mins, IRL, 2007

Based on a short story by Roddy Doyle this poignant and funny short film deftly captures the experience of being the new boy in school through the eyes of Joseph, a nine-year-old African boy.

Ela

Dir: Silvana Aguirre Zegarra, 12:29mins, UK, 2007

We meet 8-year old Ela at a very particular moment in her life: the moment she experiences loss for the first time.

Soft

Dir: Simon Ellis, 14:06mins, UK, 2006

A father rediscovers his fear of confrontation, at the worst possible time.

Young Offender

Dir: Isabel Anderton, 11:00mins, UK, 2007

An 18-year-old white inmate becomes increasingly disturbed in the oppressive atmosphere of a multi-racial young offender's institution.

Lady Margaret

Dir: Deborah Haywood, 09:56mins, UK, 2007

Danny and Joe pick up Sadie. The three teenagers drive around, flirting, having a good time. But when they drive into the woods to "look for the ghost of Lady Margaret," Sadie starts to worry.
