Filmmuseum Potsdam – Terms of Use

General terms of use
As a public institution, the Collections Department of Filmmuseum Potsdam serves cultural, scientific, and private as well as professional and educational purposes.

Applications for use must be made in writing, stating the exact topic and type of research.

Materials will be handed out only if they relate to the topic, study, or research project specified in the application for use. For the use of collection items requiring special protection, specific reasons must be given.

Photographing or filming collection items requires prior approval. As a matter of principle, photographs or other reproductions of collection items must be made or commissioned by staff members.

The mechanical or electronic reproduction of collection items is subject to limitations. Hence, the copying of complete books, manuscripts, or other materials is not possible. The reproduction of items may be subject to limitations or denied for reasons of conservation or for legal or technical reasons.

Applicants are obliged to observe personal rights and copyrights as well as interests of third parties warranting protection when using information obtained from archive material and, in the event of infringement of such rights, to absolve Filmmuseum Potsdam of all liability.

Applicants shall provide Filmmuseum Potsdam with a copy (written copy, videotape, CD-ROM or DVD) of each publication as well as of new editions of that publication free of charge and without being requested to do so.

Published archive material must clearly and unambiguously indicate the source "Filmmuseum Potsdam". If necessary, indications of source must be added.

In archive material on which Filmmuseum Potsdam does not hold the copyright, users are obliged to acquire the necessary exploitation rights from the respective owner prior to reproduction. Thus, copyright indications must be observed carefully.

In case archive material is used for subjects or purposes other than those stated in the application for use, a new application must be made.

Costs arising from research inquiries are subject to Filmmuseum Potsdam's valid Scale of Fees. Charges and fees do not depend on the publication of the provided material. The minimum charge for each research inquiry covers the first half hour of research time. Thereafter, each half hour (or part thereof) is charged.

Plans of using or publishing of provided materials must be indicated to the archive staff. For using or publishing there is a fee.

Fees are charged according to Filmmuseum Potsdam's Scale of Fees. Payment is to be made immediately after services have been rendered.

Users from science, research, and education may be relieved from paying usage fees.

Infringement of these Terms of Use and/or abuse of archive material by the user may lead to his/ her disqualification from using the services of the Collections Department.

Use of archive material outside Filmmuseum Potsdam
Any use of archive material that has not been agreed upon is prohibited, same as the passing on of material to third parties.

Reproductions may not be copied or converted for storage on other information carriers. Any use of reproductions in the Internet requires prior approval by Filmmuseum Potsdam.

Excerpts of any kind may not be made. Reproductions may not be altered or changed in any manner.

All costs resulting from the technical reproduction of archive material will be charged to and must be paid by the user.

Borrowed items must be handled with care. It is prohibited to damage or alter borrowed items in any way. In the event of infringement or loss, compensation must be paid by the user. The amount of compensation depends on the degree of damage. The complete damage of a borrowed item will be treated as a loss. The payment of compensation for damages or losses does not result in the acquisition of the items and / or the right to use and / or to reproduce them.

Reproductions of any kind (image carriers, CDROMs, scans, laser copies, etc.) remain property of Filmmuseum Potsdam, even if they have been made at the expense of the user, and must be returned by the end of the agreed loan period.

The loan period for archive material is six weeks. Archive material must be returned to Filmmuseum Potsdam immediately after use or, at the latest, by the end of the loan period. Possible extensions of the loan period must be agreed upon by Filmmuseum Potsdam before the initial loan period has expired.

If the user exceeds the loan period by more than one month, a fine amounting to the cost of the initial provision of the material will be charged. If the user exceeds the loan period by more than two months, this fine will be doubled.

The multiple use of borrowed items – e.g., in reprints, exhibitions, or media that have not been specified in the application for use – requires prior approval by Filmmuseum Potsdam and will result in additional usage fees. The user is (also retroactively) obliged to state the exact purpose of use.

Use of archive material at Filmmuseum Potsdam
The Collections Department of Filmmuseum Potsdam is publicly accessible. Users must make an appointment in writing or by phone.

Users are obliged to leave all items in the rooms provided for their usage, to keep them in their proper order, and not to damage them, alter them or endanger their status of conservation.
